

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

Out goes "Aunt Lucia" and in comes "Flapper Grandmothers."

A friend of mine attempted to involve me in a political argument a few days ago but I assumed the Cal Coolidge attitude and refused to say even a word.

The time when the farm poultry flock was a "pin money" pastime for the farmer's wife is gone. The farmer who does not make his chickens contribute liberally to his yearly profit is overlooking one of his surest sources of income, in the opinion of authorities interested in bettering farm conditions. The whole secret of bigger profits from farm poultry is contained in three simple things—better stock, more hens and better method. It is just about as easy to handle several hundred hens as it is a few. Good layers eat no more feed than low producers, while the former return a good profit for the care they get.

We wonder did they call him "Brother" Shumaker at the State Farm.

"Brother" Shumaker seems to be playing an "in again, out again" game with the State Farm officials.

The pardon did not come too late—in fact it seems like it might have been a little premature.

The Elks Lodge and Mrs. Elma Lightner, director, of "Aunt Lucia", the home talent production given this week, are to be congratulated. The event was a fine success.

"I'm sorry but I will have to bother you for that hat of mine you are wearing," said Superintendent Ralph Howard, of the Indiana State farm, Friday morning at Sheriff Reaser's, who had taken Dr. E. S. Shumaker, Indiana anti-supreme court leader, to the farm to start serving a 60-day sentence started after wearing "Cap's" brand new bonnet. Sheriff Reaser took off the hat he was wearing and sure enough he had been "caught with the goods." But as Superintendent Howard has often told me: "You have to keep your eyes on these fellows around the state farm."

I was one of the members of the reception committee at the State Farm Friday morning to greet "Brother" Shumaker, as he entered to start serving his 60 day sentence. And I found quite a number of folks there to take it all in. The Indianapolis newspapers had special reporters and staff photographers to get it by words of print and pictures of print. The Indianapolis Star photographer took occasion to take a picture of "Tuffy", Superintendent Howard's brindle bull dog and no doubt "Tuffy" will soon break out in big town newspaper publicity.

With me, to the state farm, went Mrs. "Billy" Kelly Cooper, county recorder and Mrs. Pearl Lee Vernon, an attorney of Martinsville, who knows her campaign speeches to a turn and likes them, too. Mrs. Vernon had never been to the State Farm before and she surely had a good time, as escorted by Superintendent Howard, she was taken through the interesting institution departments.

It would be sad if "Brother Shumaker" would have to serve that State Farm term, after all. But Attorney General Gilliom says he will have to serve it and Mr. Gilliom ought to know.

Well, I should worry, I have not and I am not going to criticize any Supreme Court action, at least not out loud.

EEL RIVER POWER DAM SEEN AGAIN

BOTH COMPANIES ARE WAITING FOR LAND OWNERS TO CHANGE ATTITUDE

The Cloverdale Graphic says: That the proposed Eel River Power Dam is yet a possibility was indicated in a letter received this week by William T. O'Neal, from Mr. Reed, one of the men here last spring compiling statistics and data for the company.

In his letter Mr. Reed says: "The Eel River Power Company has an organization still exists, although at the present time it is not active. Furthermore the W. B. Foshay Company, of Minneapolis, is still interested. However, both companies are awaiting a more favorable attitude on the part of a majority of the land owners in the vicinity of the proposed lake."

Apparently it is still up to the land owners. If they really want the W. B. Foshay Company to come back and they will so express their desires, we may yet see the proposed Eel River Power dam and lake an accomplished fact.

SHUMAKER CASE AGAIN BEFORE COURT

LIKE PROVERBIAL "CAT THAT CAME BACK", DRY LEADER'S FIGHT TO ESCAPE SENTENCE AGAIN BOBS UP

GILLIOM OPPOSES PARDON
Questions Constitutional Power Of Governor in Freeing Anti-Saloon League Head

By EUGENE J. CADOU
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.—

Like the proverbial unwanted "cat that came back," the case of Edward S. Shumaker, Indiana anti-saloon league superintendent, pardoned yesterday from serving 60 days at the state farm, was back before the State Supreme court here today.

With the filing by Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom of a motion asking the Supreme Court to re-arrest Shumaker, who was pardoned by Governor Ed. Jackson after serving only four hours of his sentence for contempt of the Supreme court, the old battle between the anti-saloon league and its arch enemy, Gilliom was renewed.

Ethan A. Miles, League attorney said today that the League would center its fight to preserve the liberty of Shumaker upon the legal move of Gilliom. He said that the plan to file a habeas corpus action in the Federal court here had been dropped when the pardon for the dry chieftain was issued and would not be carried out.

The legal document, which Gilliom filed late yesterday was entitled "motion by the state of Indiana for an order directing execution of judgment notwithstanding a pretended pardon by the Governor of the state."

The motion asked that Shumaker be taken back to the state farm at Putnamville to serve the full 60 days of his sentence. Shumaker's fine and costs amounting to $429.40 already had been paid.

Gilliom served notice that he would file a brief in support of his motion. It was understood that he will raise the question of whether Governor Jackson, as head of the executive department, has the constitutional right to reverse the decision of the State Supreme Court, an equal branch of government, especially inasmuch as the Shumaker case originated in the Supreme court.

However Miles and other league attorneys expressed confidence that Gilliom's motion will be overruled, even by the state supreme court.

"Why, two of the five justices have indicated in their minority opinion in the Shumaker case that they recognized the pardoning power of the Governor in this instance," Miles said.

"A number of United States Supreme Court decisions have sustained the pardoning power of the executive branch."

Miles cited the decision of Justice William Howard Taft in the Grossman contempt case and a contempt decision in the Supreme Court of New Mexico as sustaining his point.

Meanwhile, Shumaker maintained a fearless attitude. He was preparing to wage his "dry" enforcement campaign with greater vigor, he said. Shumaker on Sunday morning will speak at the High Street Methodist Church in Muncie.

SIGNAL FLARES AT SEA REPORTED BY STEAMER

LIGHTS MAY HAVE BEEN EXPLOSION OF PLANE PILOTED BY BRITISH FLIER ON TRANS-ATLANTIC HOP

NO TRACE OF McDONALD FOUND
Location Of Supposed Explosion Corresponds With Probable Location Of Flier

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 20.—(INS)—Belief that distress flares lighted by Commander H. C. MacDonald, British flier who disappeared Wednesday night while attempting a trans-Atlantic flight, may have been mistaken by a passing steamer for an explosion of his plane, was expressed by air experts here today.

This belief was expressed, following receipt of a report that a Dutch steamship, the Mirach, had sighted what its commander believed to have been an explosion, at a considerable distance from his vessel on Wednesday night.

The air experts based their supposition on the fact that Commander MacDonald carried a stock of flares and matches in a water-tight package in the cockpit of his Moth plane, for use in case of a forced landing on the water.

They pointed out that the location of the supposed explosion which the Dutch steamship sighted would correspond very closely with the position MacDonald should have reached at that time in his flight. They were inclined to believe it more probable that the lone flier had been forced down, and had lighted a signal flare in forlorn hope of possible rescue, than that the motor of his plane had exploded.

In the latter case, they said, there probably would not have been more than a momentary flash of flame, and the falling plane would have been submerged, extinguishing the flare.

The meeting at Reelsville, was held in the high school building, Friday afternoon and the meeting at Cloverdale was held in the Joy Theatre in the evening.

Mrs. Vernon who is a speaker of ability discussed three issues which have become paramount in the present presidential campaign. They concerned Tammany Hall, the religious issue and prohibition.

County candidates who made brief talks were Alva E. Lisby, county treasurer; Clifford R. Dickerson, county prosecutor; Orville O'Neal, county surveyor; and Harlan R. Denton, candidate for joint representative from Putnam and Owen counties. Judge James P. Hughes of the Putnam Circuit court also made a short talk.

GOV. SMITH VISITS STATE FOR ONE HOUR

INDIANA DEMOCRATIC LEADERS CRAM AS MANY EVENTS AS POSSIBLE INTO BRIEF TIME CANDIDATE IS HERE

WILL MAKE BRIEF ADDRESS
Committee Accompanies Nominee From Chicago Saturday—Large Crowd Gathers

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 20.—(INS)—Indiana Democratic leaders were trying to cram as many events as possible into the brief hour that Governor Alfred E. Smith was to spend in Indianapolis this afternoon.

Arriving at 3 p. m. the Democratic presidential nominee was to leave here at 4 p. m.

Although there was to be no set speech from Governor Smith, preparations were being made for him to make a brief address from the balcony of the Hotel English, following a parade through the business district. State Chairman R. Earl Peters announced.

Amplifiers were to be placed around Monument Circle to enable a large crowd to hear the remarks of the presidential candidate.

The Indiana committee that accompanied Governor Smith from Chicago to Indianapolis was composed of: Chairman Peters, Evans Woollen and Dr. Carleton B. McCullough, of Indianapolis; L. G. Ellingham, Fort Wayne publisher; William H. O'Brien, Lawrenceburg; Mrs. James R. Riggs, Sullivan; Mrs. Samuel M. Ralston, Mrs. John W. Kern and Miss Gertrude Fanning McHugh, all of Indianapolis.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—(INS)—The Brown Derby waves for the last time today west of the Alleghenies.

Heartened by the magnificent reception given him in Chicago, Governor Al Smith starts eastward today, via Indiana, to make one of his usual whirlwind finishes to a campaign. Two weeks from tonight, in his own New York, he will make his closing bid for the presidency.

The Democratic nominee leaves the west "entirely satisfied," to use his own words, with the outlook. For ten days he has been on the road continuously, received everywhere by crowds such as political old-timers say have never turned out for any candidate for public office.

He enters Indiana today for his final bow in the Middle West happy and confident. The Hoosier state has 15 electoral votes and Governor Smith believes he has a fine chance to capture them notwithstanding the traditional Republicanism of the state.

At Indianapolis this afternoon, Governor Smith will stop for an hour, perhaps two. He plans a call there on Thomas Taggart, the veteran Democratic leader of the state, who is ill, and a conference with a number of farm leaders that may be in the nature of a speech. The residents of Indianapolis will get a chance to glimpse the Brown Derby in one of the usual parades. Other stops will be made at Lafayette, Muncie and possibly Lebanon.

Considerable significance is attached to the meeting that has been arranged between Governor Smith and the farm leaders at Indianapolis who will be headed by Wm. H. Settle, one of Hoover's bitterest assailants on the farm issue. Governor Smith has been told that the Republican agriculturists in Indiana, who normally roll up big G. O. P. majorities, are on the warpath this year. He is going to add fuel to the fire by telling them that they can take a personal message from him into their districts that if elected in November he is going into action immediately on the relief problem.

PHYSICIAN TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., who wuh personal physician to President Wilson, will resign from the Navy within a short time, according to his close friends today.

How to Play BRIDGE
Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 9

One of the points which the writer has emphasized many times in these articles is the necessity of looking at hand over carefully and planning the play before playing to the first trick. Here is an example where the player had a chance to apply this principle and took advantage of it:

Hearts—10, 9, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—J, 9
Diamonds—Q, 10, 5
Spades—A, Q, 7

Y :
B :
Z :

Hearts—K, J, 8, 3
Clubs—A, Q, 8
Diamonds—A, K, 6, 3
Spades—J, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. A bid two clubs, Y bid two hearts and B passed. Z now bid two no trump, all passed and A opened the six of clubs. Y played the nine, B the deuce and Z the eight.

Z now had to decide how to play the hand. It was apparent that if he could find the queen of hearts on his right that he could easily win the game by finessing the jack to his first try for game was the lead of the ten of hearts from Y's hand. B played a low heart, Z the trey and A won the trick with the queen.

A was now in the position of knowing that Z held the ace queen of clubs, because B had been unable to beat the nine on the first trick. Therefore A could not lead clubs again. His only chance to get B in the lead was by the lead of a diamond or spade and the latter play looked the better.

At trick three, therefore, A led the deuce of spades. Should Z allow the lead to come up to his hand or should he play the ace? This is the decision play in this hand, so note it carefully and decide what you would do before reading further.

The decision is based on a certain guess. If Z plays Y's low spade and B has the king, he will lead a club through Z's ace queen and Z cannot go game if A has the ace of hearts. On the other hand, if Z plays the ace of spades at trick three from Y's hand and then leads a heart, he is sure to go game matter where the hearts are.

By playing the hand in this way, Z must score two club tricks, three heart tricks, one spade trick and at least three diamond tricks—or nine in all. Very frequently, in the play of a hand, a point like this will arise, where an unnecessary finesse will prevent a player from scoring game. Learn to count your tricks and size up your hand at the first trick. If you learn this valuable lesson, you will win many a game and rubber not otherwise possible.

The following solutions of the problems given in the preceding article are examples of the way good players bid and play interesting hands, so study them carefully.

Answer to Problem No. 8

Hearts—J, 10, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—J, 7, 5
Diamonds—A, 8, 5
Spades—7, 5

Y :
B :
Z :

Hearts—A, K, 9, 8, 5
Clubs—A, 7, 4, 2
Diamonds—9, 7, 4, 2
Spades—10, 8, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A bid one spade, Y bid four hearts and all passed. A played the ace king of spades and then led the ten of clubs. How should Z play the hand so that he will have the best chance to make four odd?

Solution: There is only one way that Y-Z can score game in this hand and that is by finding the lone queen of hearts in one hand and the king queen of diamonds only in one hand. With the distribution of cards it is possible to score game by the following play:

After winning the third trick with the ace of clubs, Z should lead the ace of hearts. If the queen falls, as it must if game is to be won, Z should lead a low heart and win the trick in Y's hand with the ten of hearts. Y should now lead the seven of clubs and trump in Z's hand with the eight of hearts. Z should now lead the ten of spades, trumping in Y's hand with the six of hearts. Y should now lead the jack of clubs and trump in Z's hand with the nine of hearts.

Both Z's and Y's hands are now void of spades and clubs. Z has the king of hearts and the 9, 7, 4, 2 of diamonds. Y holds the J, 7, 4, 2 of hearts and the A, 8, 5 of diamonds. Z should now lead the deuce of diamonds and win the trick in Y's hand with the ace. Y should now lead the five of diamonds and if the king queen of diamonds are alone in either A's or B's hand, the winner of the second diamond trick must lead either a club or a spade. Z should trump this trick in his own hand and discard Y's last diamond. Played in this way Y-Z must win four odd and game.

Note that if the king and a small diamond are in one opponent's hand, the game can be saved by dropping the king on Y's ace. In this way the other opponent can win the second diamond trick with the jack and lead the queen of diamonds, thus saving game. Lay out the cards, placing the queen of hearts alone and the king queen of diamonds alone in the opponents' hands and you will easily see how the hand works out.

Answer to Problem No. 9

Hearts—10, 8, 2
Clubs—9, 4, 2
Diamonds—2, 8, 6
Spades—A, Q, 3, 2

Y :
B :
Z :

Hearts—A, 9, 7, 6, 4
Clubs—7, 5
Diamonds—A, J, 7, 5, 2
Spades—10

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A bid one spade and Y and B passed. Z bid two diamonds, A passed, Y bid two hearts and all passed. If A opened the eight of spades, how should Z play the hand?

Solution: Z should finesse the queen of spades and then play the ace, discarding the five of clubs. The lead of the eight of spades by A indicates, according to the Rule of Eleven, that he holds the king jack nine, so Z should now be careful not to lead trumps. He has no suit set up and if he leads trumps at this stage, he is sure to get into trouble. At the third trick, therefore, Z should lead the six of diamonds from Y's hand, win it with ace in his own hand and return the deuce.

The opponents are now in the lead and Z must allow them to develop the hand. If they lead a spade or club and are him to trump, he should lead another diamond. At no time should he lead trumps.

Answer to Problem No. 10

Hearts—9, 7, 5, 2
Clubs—8
Diamonds—K, Q, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 2
Spades—none

Y :
B :
Z :

Hearts—A, 8
Clubs—K, 10, 9, 6, 5, 2
Diamonds—none
Spades—K, Q, J, 8, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one club, A bid one heart, Y bid two diamonds and B passed. Z bid two spades and A bid three hearts. What should Y do?

Solution: Y should double three hearts. The bidding should indicate a big two-suiter in Z's hand and as Y holds the diamonds, how can A make nine tricks? It should also be apparent that Y cannot score game in diamonds unless Z can give him at least one assist. If all pass the three heart double, Y should open the eight of clubs. Played in this way, A's three-heart bid will be defeated two tricks. On the other hand, if Y should bid four diamonds, he will fail to make his bid by one trick. Note that Z's opening bid of one club, rather than one spade, is made to indicate to his partner that his club suit is the longer. Modern bidding prefers this information to an indication of top cards and shorter suits.

Answer to Problem No. 11

Hearts—J
Clubs—A, 8, 5, 4
Diamonds—K, Q, 8, 7, 5
Spades—A, J, 2

Y :
B :
Z :

Hearts—A, 8, 4
Clubs—Q, J, 9, 2
Diamonds—6
Spades—K, Q, 10, 7, 4

Score, Y-Z—12; A-B—0, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade. A and Y passed and B bid two hearts. Z bid two spades and A and Y passed. B bid three hearts and Z and A passed. A doubled. All passed and A opened the nine of hearts which Z won with the ace. How should he plan the play of the hand?

Z should lead the six of diamonds, playing Y's queen unless A plays the ace. It is vitally important for Z to set up the diamond suit before Y's hand is out of trumps to be used for entries to the diamonds. He must figure at least four spades in A's hand and should prepare to discard hearts rather than trump them. He can take the club finesse later.

NEW YORK TICKET IMPRESSES NATION

Candidates Named by Governor Smith—Not One Affiliated With Tammany.

ROOSEVELT SUPPORTED BY REPUBLICAN PRESS

A distinctly favorable reaction to the nomination by the Democratic party of Franklin D. Roosevelt for Governor of New York State is perceived by political observers in all most every State of the Union.
Nobody in New York has any doubt that he will be elected. One of the most able and most highly respected figures in the history of American politics, he is said to be sure of the largest majority ever received by a candidate for Governor. His presence on the Democratic ticket, coupled with the fact that he is one of Governor Smith's closest friends, leaves the Hoover forces without hope in the Empire State.

But what is of greater significance, since no well-informed person has ever doubted the Governor's ability to carry his own State, is the reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy in the West and South. His consent to become the nominee, at Governor Smith's request, has made ridiculous the "Tammany cry" with which Republican campaign managers have attempted to influence voters in the districts unfamiliar with the Governor's record.

Tammany Not Represented

Mr. Roosevelt has never been affiliated with Tammany Hall, nor any other political machine. In fact, not a single candidate on the State ticket, which was in actuality named from top to bottom by Governor Smith, has any connection with Tammany.

New York Republican leaders acknowledge that, unlike their own candidate who is linked with the big power interests, Mr. Roosevelt is invulnerable to attack. A distinguished official of the Wilson Administration, in which he served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and the Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1920, he consistently refused to run for Governor until pressed to do so by Governor Smith.

One significant reaction to Governor Smith's choice of a man of such character and reputation to succeed him at Albany is the defection of two strong Hoover newspapers in New York, the Sun and the Telegram, both of which announced editorially that they would support the Democratic candidate for Governor.

To Preserve Smith Ideals

WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—Explaining why he had consented to be drafted by the party leaders of New York State, after his previous refusal to accept the nomination for Governor, Franklin D. Roosevelt said:

"It was because they felt and I felt that the whole splendid structure of government built up by Governor Smith and all the high ideals of service to the people which he had established were in peril that caused me to accept the nomination."

"That is something too important to let any personal considerations weigh in the slightest. I am in this fight not to win personal honor, but for the carrying forward of the policies of Governor Smith."

WILSON URGED KIN TO SUPPORT SMITH

War-Time President Scorned Cry That He was Tammany Candidate.

WASHINGTON.—President Woodrow Wilson in 1913 urged his relatives to vote for Alfred E. Smith, who was then a candidate for Governor of New York, and to work for his election.

The incident was described to friends by Mrs. Rolfe E. Bolling, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Wilson, who now resides in Washington.

"Mr. Bolling and I called on President and Mrs. Wilson during a Red Cross drive in the late summer of 1918, when we were living in New York. President Wilson asked if I had registered. I replied in the negative, explaining that we had not done so because we thought Mr. Smith was the candidate of Tammany Hall."

"I will never forget how he looked at me and said in a very serious tone: 'Go tomorrow and register and both work and vote for Mr. Smith.'"

THE THEATERS

THE VONCASTLE
"Forbidden Hours" Features
Ramon Navarro in Role of King
A closeup of the human soul hidden from the world under the ermine robes of a monarch—this is the glimpse, seldom given the world that Ramon Navarro offers playgoers in his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle "Forbidden Hours," appearing Monday and Tuesday at the Voncaste Theatre.

Ramon is every inch a king; he has a natural dignity and serenity that makes him ideal for this type of role. But he has more—he has the intensely human appeal that enables him to show what lies under the trappings of royalty—a king's inner nature. And—it's an inner nature no different from that of any other human being.

It took remarkable skill at acting to do it as artistically and thoroughly as Navarro does it. Besides being a glorious piece of romantic entertainment, it ranks as one of Navarro's greatest triumphs as an artist.

It is a simple love story, set in the pomp and circumstance of a European court of today. Navarro plays the young king, surrounded by statesmen, traditions and the inflexible rules to which a king must ever bow; Renee Adoree is his sweetheart, commoner, whom he is asked to forsake to wed a princess of another land in a loveless marriage arranged by diplomacy and confirmed by treaties.

Lavishly set in the pomp of a European court, it is a spectacular swirl of gorgeous uniforms, costumes, great court affairs, and a magnificently staged royal wedding in a great cathedral. But beneath all this pomp the central story is a delicate love theme.

THE GRANADA
Colleen Moore Surpasses Previous Work In "Happiness Ahead"
Far surpassing in emotional drama her previous work as a comedienne, Colleen Moore has given a performance in the stellar role of "Happiness Ahead" that unquestionably should be considered the finest of her career. Her latest picture will be shown at the Granada Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

The story of "Happiness Ahead" centers about an unsophisticated girl from a small town, who becomes the wife of a city card sharp. Her disillusionment, and the subsequent regeneration of her husband, provide the framework for a plot that is as unique as it is interesting. Edmund Lowe, who plays opposite Colleen Moore, is provided with an unusually strong role—and he takes full advantage of his opportunities. The players in support represent an admirable example of casting. Lilyan Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Charles Selton, Robert Elliott and Carlos Duran being conspicuous for their good work.

FACES MURDER CHARGE

BEDFORD, Ind., Oct. 20.—(INS)—Coroner O. D. Emerson today returned a verdict of homicide in the death of Sylvan F. Moore, 27, of Lafayette, a Purdue University graduate, who was slain here Tuesday night by an enraged husband.

Following the verdict Deputy Prosecutor Thomas M. Brinkworth said that Atlee Osborn, 34-year-old stone carver, probably would be arraigned on a first degree murder charge late today.

Osborne was the enraged husband who hammered Moore's head against a concrete curb until Moore was dead after he caught him visiting Mrs. Osborn in the darkened Osborn home when he returned home unexpectedly from Bloomington.

GREAT CROWD CHEERS SMITH IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—In America's second city, Alfred E. Smith tonight wound up his last campaign swing of the mid-West.

Speaking to an overflow crowd at the 131st regiment Armory, the Democratic nominee for President attacked Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, for renewing the Salt Creek oil lease.

The Governor then turned a verbal machine gun fire on Senator Borah of Idaho, now stumping the country in behalf of the Republican ticket.

The Democratic nominee before turning eastward to wind up his drive for the presidency in home territory along the Atlantic seaboard, warned his hearers to remember the Republicans were promising the nation a continuation of the record of the last four years.

Frequently the nominee was interrupted by applause, cheers, the tooting of horns and ringing of cow-bells. When he said, "Let us talk a little about prohibition," there was another demonstration. A few minutes later the crowd yelled again when he promised, if elected, to do his best to enforce it.

On water power, one of the last subjects touched upon, the nominee said that if the water power resources were left in Republican hands for another four years that they would "be under private ownership and operated for private profit."

Preceding the address the Governor spent about three hours during the afternoon riding over the city. Seated on the top of the back seat of an open car, the nominee was cheered by the crowd which greeted him along the forty-five mile route. A storm of ticker tape and bits of paper descended from high buildings in the financial district.

Tonight long before the nominee was scheduled to speak, every seat in the armory was filled. The local arrangements committee said it had a seating capacity of 8,000. Outside, police, with arms linked together, were struggling with another crowd that was unable to get in.

Indoors the gathering was a noisy one. Mrs. Smith and her two daughters reached the Armory at 7:46 o'clock. They received an ovation as they took seats on the front row of the speakers' platform. The Governor arrived six minutes later. As he walked to the front of the platform the crowd yelled and yelled nearly drowning out the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner." The nominee spent several minutes walking about the platform shaking hands.

Every moment or so he would turn and wave to the crowd, which responded with another yell. The audience then tried a little organized cheering:

"We want Al, we want Al, we want Al!" the people roared and roared. Thomas Donovan, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois, presided over the meeting. Melvina A. Taylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, introduced the nominee, who began speaking at 8:11 o'clock.

PARTISANSHIP

While I have the utmost respect for John R. Miller, I am afraid he is blinded by partisanship to the higher things of life. Shakespeare says, truly, "He who steals my purse, steals trash."

Visualize if you can, McCray standing at the cross roads of life, his back to the wall, bankruptcy, ignominy, the crown of thorns of disgrace and the black walls of Federal Prison looming in the distance. Then comes this tempter showing him a road out, with the added addition of the ten thousand dollars. It must have been a temptation we can hardly realize but McCray with a nobler spirit brushed it aside with contempt and took his punishment and Indiana has worn her mantle of disgrace with bowed head.

Two Governors with such records. Is it any wonder that Indiana today respects Governor McCray more than it does Ed. Jackson?

And yet, John R. Miller says they did not steal money. To quote literally, he says "There has been no defalcations, no misappropriations of funds." Ah! Are we lowering our standards?

DR. BROWN GIVEN

LEAVE FOR YEAR

Dr. Wilbur V. Brown, head of the DePauw department of mathematics, has been granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the year due to ill health.

Coming to DePauw in 1888 as an associate professor, Dr. Brown a few years later was made head of the mathematics department, a position he has held for the last 35 years.

Two years ago his health began to fail. Last spring he suffered an attack which kept him from his classes for several weeks. While he was greatly benefited by his summer's rest, he has not recuperated enough to endure the work of his office this fall.

H. E. H. Greenleaf and W. C. Arnold associate professors in the department, will take over Dr. Brown's classes.

NET TEAM TO BEGIN PRACTICE

DePauw basketball practice will be held Tuesday night at seven-thirty, according to announcement made today by Coach Donovan Moffett. Moffett will have six men from last year's team to use as a nucleus during the first practices before the football season closes, and after the grid season will have six more veterans to work with.

Two practice sessions a week are slated for the first few weeks. Coach Moffett expects to use the first weeks in preliminary drill.

Costello, Mountz, Robbins, Stone, Stunkel and Ennes are the veterans who will be on hand for the first practice. The squad will be strengthened considerably at the end of the football season by Captain Loveless, Crawley, Gunn, Springer, Struck and Ragsdale. The last three named were outstanding players with the frosh last year when they captured the state title.

UTILITY MERGER

PLAN IS OPPOSED

Objection to the proposed $70,000 merger of four Indiana utilities was filed with the public service commission yesterday by the Indiana Federation of Labor.

The proposed merger and exchange of stock would create an overcapitalization of the merged company, according to the petition.

The labor organization was the only group to file objections during the ten-day period set by the commission for such action, which ended yesterday.

Companies involved in the proposed merger are the Central Indiana Power Company, Indiana Electric Corporation, Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company, and Terre Haute Traction and Light Company.

LESLIE, JACKSON

LINKED BY DAILEY

RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 19.—Speaking before the largest audience that has assembled here for years to hear a political address, Frank C. Dailey, Democratic nominee for Governor, linked the names of Harry G. Leslie and Governor Ed Jackson in alleged political "mismanagement" of state government in the latter's administration.

The speaker referred to a recent address of Governor Jackson in which he said Jackson stated he had been given great help in his administration by the then speaker of the House of Representatives.

"We have wondered," Mr. Dailey said, "who it was that helped the Governor in his wonderful administration."

The Republican state ticket Mr. Dailey declared to be a ticket "hand-picked" by Governor Jackson. He stated that four members of it had been at one time or another appointees of Jackson to public office.

Alfred Hogston, state fire marshal was said by the speaker to be the editor of the Pitchfork, which he said was the official publication of the Statehouse. Mr. Dailey served warning on Hogston that, if elected, he would send him to seek another field for his literary endeavors.

Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes editor, was not left out of the Dailey attack. Mr. Dailey read editorials from the paper published by Adams in which Adams assailed Frederick Schortemeier and Leslie after the primary as members of "the gang." He questioned Mr. Adams' change of heart and wondered what pressure it was the Republican organization brought to bear in bringing about the "change of heart."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"DOCTRINE OF ATONEMENT"

is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 21.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Speak thou the things which become of sound doctrine: For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world" (Titus 2:1, 11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught Love. Jesus of Nazareth's oneness and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. He did owe him endless homage not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals,—to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them, nor to relieve them of a single responsibility" (p. 18).
